ROAD NOT TAKEN

Robert Frost

- A1) Two roads diverged in a yellow wood, and sorry I could not travel both, and be one traveller, long I stood, and looked down one as far as I could, to where it bent in the undergrowth A2) Then took the other as just as fair, and having perhaps the better claim because it was grassy and wanted wear, though as for that the passing there, had worn them really about the same B) And both that morning equally lay, in leaves no steps had trodden black oh, I kept the first for another day, yet knowing how way turns onto way, I doubted if I would ever come back A3) I should be telling this with a sigh, somewhere ages and ages hence two roads diverged in a wood and I, took the one less travelled by, and that has made all the difference
